

Professor Steve Bain, consultant diabetologist
Dr. Harry Brown, general practitioner
Dr. Mark Freeman, consultant diabetologist
Jim Young, editor-in-chief
Susan Young, editorial director

Comprise the editorial board of Glycosmedia <http://www.glycosmedia.com>

We are looking for organisations, companies and corporations who would consider sponsoring Glycosmedia

To enable you to make that decision we have prepared two brief PDF files that give details of the mutual benefits of sponsorship and details of the fiscal needs of Glycosmedia. If you would like further information then please contact Jim Young (Editor-in-Chief) via the contact details below

A brief overview of Glycosmedia...

Glycosmedia is a free and editorially independent diabetes news service – and will always remain so

It exists to bring the latest diabetes news and information to professionals working in the field of diabetes, both in the clinic and in research

It will also be of interest to allied professionals involved with, or interested in diabetes, and to patients wishing to keep abreast of latest developments

The content of Glycosmedia is selected "by hand" and does not use an automated trawl of the net. We are convinced that human editorial control is the only way to ensure a focused and relevant service

As well as being available online Glycosmedia offers a free Email service <http://glycosmedia.com/list/?up=subscribe&id=1>

Thank you for taking the time to read this and we hope to hear from you soon

As a new venture we are open to any form of fiscal support that you deem suitable

For further details please contact:

Jim Young
Editor in Chief
Glycosmedia
Email: jim@glycosmedia.com
Tel: 07875005242

